Join us for the 3rd annual DevOpsDays conference in Kansas City!

Kansas City is where large enterprise software companies and a growing startup community are fueled by the fastest internet in the world. The inaugural event in 2016 was attended by over 220 elite DevOps stakeholders, and last year we had over 350 in attendance ranging from operators and developers to CTOs and CIOs of multi-billion dollar companies. This event will allow you to connect with a diverse set of stakeholders all in one place. This year, we're expecting over 400 attendees.

Connecting with customers

Are you looking to connect with executives and senior technical leaders at the top companies in Kansas City? DevOpsDays KC had over 70 local companies represented in 2017. 20% of our attendees identify as executives including CTOs, CIOs, and CEOs. This is a great opportunity to connect with senior leadership from the top companies across Kansas City. Also, over half of those identifying as technical contributors are senior technical leaders with titles ranging from Senior Technology Architect to Chief Architect. But if your target audience is more of a mix, then we have students, project managers, security specialists, business analysts, and managers.
